1 Natural Sciences and Engineering and Technology (responses from 12 referees)

1. In the context of a research unit evaluation do you consider useful to hire independent referees for grading selected research outputs for which bibliometric indicators are available (WoS papers)?

| | |
|-----|----|
| Yes | 11 |
| No | 1 |

2. When grading the papers did you consider supplied basic bibliometric indicators as an important guidance?

| | |
|-----|---|
| Yes | 9 |
| No | 3 |

3. Do you consider the criteria for grading from A to E as unambiguous and clearly defined?

| | |
|-----|----|
| Yes | 11 |
| No | 1 |

4. Do you consider a reward of 50 € for grading one paper as

| | |
|--------------|----|
| Generous | 1 |
| Adequate | 10 |
| Insufficient | 0 |

5. For grading one WoS publication did you spend per paper in average

| | |
|--------------------|----|
| One hour or less | 2 |
| More than one hour | 10 |

2 Humanities (responses from 5 referees)

1. In the context of a research unit evaluation do you consider useful to hire independent referees for grading selected research outputs in Humanities?

| | |
|-----|---|
| Yes | 5 |
| No | 0 |

Note

Definitely. But it should be more in advance. That would be useful to prepare more specific guidelines for reviewers (I already wrote about as a panellist in my feedback).

2. Do you consider the criteria for grading from A to E as unambiguous and clearly defined?

| | |
|-----|---|
| Yes | 2 |
| No | 3 |

Note

Need of recalibration for social sciences and humanities? Which reference? Need to put B+ or B- (C+, C-).

This scale is the most objective

3. Do you consider a reward of 100 € for grading a book or a chapter as

| | |
|--------------|---|
| Generous | 0 |
| Adequate | 4 |
| Insufficient | 1 |

Note

We do a lot of evaluation for free in our common practice; it's good to be payed sometimes. I didn't really count hours, especially when books where interesting. On the other hand, I knew already some of the books

4. For grading one output (book or a chapter) did you spend per output in average

| | |
|---------------------|---|
| Two hours or less | 0 |
| More than two hours | 5 |

Note

Much more than two hours in case I didn't read the book before. Less otherwise. More time for the first 5 books
